COOTIES vs COVID

by Angelo Valencia-Lucero on October 12

EWWW! You have cooties, I mean Covid! Cooties were a very very serious epidemic. If you think back before cooties were cured, cooties were a lot like covid. If someone had cooties you would stay away from them and keep them from giving you the disease. Now that we have all grown older, cooties have turned to Covid which is just a little more serious. The rare cootie cases that we have today are very life-threatening. For those that have not experienced cooties, the virus contains: moderate to severe being laughed at, the cootie touch, social distancing ( not by choice ), and forever be known as a carrier of cooties. Covid has shown some very real and bad results which give cooties a tough rival. Covid consists of cough, fever, fatigue, sore throat, and potentially, in certain cases, death. You decide which is worse, a potential death-causing virus or a very serious imaginary epidemic?

Sticky floors

by Alex Gonzalez on October 12

How many times have you walked into the bathroom and walked out with sticky shoe soles? That happens to me every day! I swear some people just don't know how to aim. I especially feel bad for the janitors for having to clean that. Sometimes I feel like someone spilled a whole gallon of Kool-aid. If anyone needs instructions on how to aim I would be glad to teach you how. Just remember, it's not a pleasant experience walking out of the bathroom with your feet going twak twak twak out of the bathroom. There is a number that you can call if you have aiming dysfunction, call 1-800-NOAIM. It is toll-free and will lead you to 90% aim even from range. I hope that when you call, this problem will go away because I don't want to feel like I'm stepping on spider man web juice anymore.

Importance of Politics

by Vivian Carrell on October 12

As teenagers, we think that we're invincible and always right. Well, wake up and smell the coffee. We are not invincible and definitely wrong from time to time. Our entire future can be changed by decisions that we don't get to make. This is entirely true when it comes to politics. As minors, most of us won't be of age to vote in the upcoming presidential election. This means that this huge decision, deciding the way our country will go on for the next 4-8 years, will be made by someone else. Yeah, now we live with our parents, and they take care of us. But, in four years, we will either be in college or working. In four years, a lot could be going on in your life. For some, you may be working on a Bachelor's degree, or just trying to make ends meet. The president that we elect can make that difference, even if there's no telling who will do what. According to The Atlantic, a second Trump term would cause more disruption to our foreign policy. Without this, we would believe in isolationism, and as a nation, we have learned that that doesn't work. With our foreign policy, we can grow our economy through exports and imports which is what our country relies on. You wouldn't be able to buy your new iPhone. However, according to The American Conservative, can a democratic party with Biden, 78 years old, and Pelosi, 80, "have any future in a post-Boomer America?" He may not be adequate to be the leader of our nation, a president of the people, at his age because he may not know how to address the cultural and social problems that we are facing today. Politics are important, as they will decide the future, and even what you get to buy at Walmart. Educate yourselves, instead of complaining about who did what. Chances are, you don't know what you're talking about.

What is Life Like After Highschool

by Piper Grissom on October 12

College, jobs, and many more. There are options for us highschoolers once we graduate. As we all know if we want a very high-paying job that does well in society, college is the way to go. The main thing about college is we all want out of here so why more schooling? It is super expensive, takes up to 4 years or more depending on what you are majoring in. There are jobs that do not require a college or higher education, such as fast-food restaurants, working at gas stations, or small stores. You aren't required to attend college, but a lot of people do it. Parents and teachers, most of the time, expect that you do. When you are a freshman you a lot of the time sign up for college websites that can help prepare you for when you are a junior and senior finalizing out your decision. What do you feel like you're going to do?

Shoes

by Mia Esquer -Montoya on October 12

Shoes these days can get extremely expensive. They can range from $100-$10,000! The Jordan Dior 1's can range from $7,500 to $13,500, just for these pairs of shoes. Jordans are pretty popular right now, but some are very pricey. Such as Jordan 11 Retros that can go for $300-$400. But Jordans aren't the only expensive shoes, there are also shoes like Adidas Yeezy Boost 350, Nike Air Max 1 FB Yeezy, and Nike Air Force 1 Supreme Black can all go for $200-$300. Many new shoes that get released can sell for $150-$300, then people will buy and resell them for a much larger price. Such as the Jordan 1 Retro High Travis Scott shoes, they were retailed at $175 and now they can be sold at $2,200. So people can make a profit by buying and reselling different shoes.

COVID Vaccine?

by Lalo Ambriz on October 12

So, I am pretty sure, you guys have heard of the COVID vaccine, right? Well, if you haven't, there has been "rumors" about a vaccine that might be coming. Is it an actual thing that is going to help, or is it all a big goof, and is it part of the government's plan? That is something to think about. Will you receive it, or will you just say no and not get it? There are many reasons why you should, and why you probably shouldn't.

Now I am not saying this is a sure thing, but if they do make a vaccine and you do want to get it, go for it I am not stopping you, this is just my opinion. The pro's of the "vaccine" can prevent you from getting the virus, and also will lift that weight off your shoulders from the virus. The cons can be that the vaccine doesn't work and it does not protect you from the virus. Or like I said before, can it just be the government's plan to give more people it and it helps population control? I guess we will have to find out right?

Where are all these movies at?

by Lennie Valdez on October 12

The Ski High six has just reopened a couple weeks ago. Everyone is pretty excited But am I the only one thinking like none of the new movies are coming to the theater because of covid so ummm just like what are they playing? So far, I have noticed there are 2 movies playing in the Ski Hi Six which are Tenants, and some movie called The War With Grandpa. I don't know what these guys think if Corona is working on a time schedule or something. They have to reserve seats in the movie theater.

Stressed

by Brian on October 12

Being stressed is a common thing in life. Most people stress over things that are going to happen in the future or assignments that are due that night and they don't know how to do it. For me, the easiest way to not stress is to pray before you do anything. When you are stressed you can have low energy or headaches. It is not good to be stressed about anything. Stressing is not good for your body.
